EGYPT.

A letter from Cairo, Egypt, published in the Philadelphia Press, gives the following list of American officers in the army of the Khedive: Major General Watt, on leave of absence preparatory to retiring; Brigadier General Loring, Brigadier General Seiler, Brigadier General Stone, chief of staff, stationed at Cairo; Col. Alexander Reynolds and Col. Frank Reynolds (father and son), Col. Kennon, Col. Jennett, Col. Purdy. This gentleman, it is said, is going into Africa, to Dr. Livingstone, as bearer of dispatches from the Khedive; Lieut. Col. Long, Lieut. Col. Ward, Lieut. Col. Dunlap, Lieut. Col. Mason, Maj. Campbell, Col. Rhett, Gen. Trevis, who has recently joined the army as director of the school; Maj. Pritchett.

The Egyptian army is said to be in excellent condition, and it is supposed that the Khedive contemplates, unless prevented by the great Powers, throwing off the yoke of the Sultan and even taking Constantinople. The correspondent referred to, says:

"All his private soldiers are taught to read and write; the schools are under the immediate direction of General Loring, and the non-commissioned officers must possess a fair education. The Khedive has an immense private fortune, and spends his money liberally.

"A few weeks before I arrived, three of his sons were married and a daughter betrothed. The ceremonies of the occasion are described as having exceeded in magnificence the wedding of the Arabian Knights. Gold was showered by beautiful Circassian slaves upon the crowd. The coin was peculiar and had been struck off for the occasion. One lady found six jewels in the folds of her dress and in her hair upon returning home. The young Princess wore a dress entirely of point lace, with a train many yards long, and was in every other respect gorgeously arrayed. Her whole body, back and front, from waist to neck, was covered with diamonds. Some say that the Khedive is eating up the resources of the government, and that in a few years Egypt will be reduced to bankruptcy, while others declare that he pays all from his own purse. He is given to huge expenditures and it is hoped, for the country's sake, that the latter speak the truth. Like his kind, while liberal, he is a hard master to the lower classes, and taxes them unmercifully."

THE EMPRESS OF AUSTRIA.—The Empress of Austria will be the grand central star of the great Exposition. It is met that something of romance should attach to a history of a princess who is called the handsomest woman in Europe; and it is, therefore, not surprising to find that Elizabeth of Bavaria, when scarcely sixteen years of age, became, unconsciously, the heroine of one of those pleasant and unexpected episodes which at times illumine the records of illustrious families in every quarter of the globe. Five or six years after the young Emperor, Francis Joseph, had ascended the throne of Austria, he paid a visit to his aunt, the Duchess Louisa, of Bavaria, at Lehl. He had been attracted thither more especially by the fame of the beauty of his cousins, Helene and Elizabeth—the latter was born on the 24th of December, 1837. There was to be a great fête, and it was supposed by the Duchess that Helene, the elder of the two ladies, was to be the star of the occasion; but, beautiful as she was, the Emperor, to the dismay and consternation of his aunt, had set his eyes upon Elizabeth, and notwithstanding that her extreme youth was urged, and that it was in addition, pleaded the wardrobe was not such as to do justice to herself or the occasion, he determined that she should be presented, and that, if necessary, the fête should be sufficiently rustic to come within the scope of even a plain, white muslin dress. The result of all this was the beautiful young daughter of the Duke, Maximilian Joseph, and the Duchess already mentioned, was married to Francis Joseph, and crowned Empress of Austria, April 24, 1854, and Queen of Hungary June 8, 1867. She is now in her thirty-seventh year, and although the mother of several children, is still as beautiful as the day.

THE CHICAGO FIRE STILL BURNING.—It is a year, six months and nine days since the fire of October 9, 1871, and yet, strange to relate, two gentlemen claim that the champion blaze operation has not subsided yet. While a party of gentlemen yesterday were passing the ruins of the Catholic Brothers' school, on Van Buren street, east of Clark, their attention was attracted by the escape of smoke, and, out of curiosity, they instituted an investigation. After making an excavation, a small pile of glowing coals was reached, and, when the air came in contact with it, a vigorous flame burst forth. The discoverers resolved upon making the fact memorable, and, accordingly, obtaining some potatoes, roasted them by the fire, ate a lunch, then lit some cigars at the blaze, covered the live coals over with brick, and departed. The gentlemen who vouch for the above are Mr. J. S. Hewson, carpenter and builder, Van Buren street, and Mr. J. B. Bailey.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

THE FIRST OF MAY will mark the inauguration of the penny postal cards. England has, for years, tried the plan of maintaining its petty correspondence on these cards, and, on the whole, we believe, rather favors it. It is true that it sometimes has a disagreeable knack of revealing to the unsympathizing gaze of post-office officials, and the close, business-like scrutiny of letter-carriers, some of those delicate secrets of Alphonso which relate to a slight indebtedness, or to those little troubles of Augustus George which have a special reference to that worthy lady, his landlady. That the system may, at times, prove objectionable to this purely personal score, cannot, we take it, be avoided, and those public-spirited citizens who may thus have their private business made as public as the town pump, will be willing to sacrifice themselves for the good of the community at large.—Rich. News.

RESIGNED.—The Rev. Dr. Munsell, President of the Illinois Wesleyan University, has been brought before the trustees upon a charge of "paternally kissing the young ladies." The trustees report that they "regard the course of Dr. Munsell in kissing different young ladies as unwise and improper," from which we infer that the salutes would have been perfectly wise and proper if the Doctor had confined himself to one young lady. But the trustees say that the kissing was always "in the presence of third parties, so that there could have been no improper intent." This is mild; but the doctor is huffy about the matter, and has resigned the President's chair.
